Calvin Perry Summoned

Former County Rancher Is Stricken At Pomona; Rites On Friday Afternoon

Calvin Perry, 80, father of Mrs. C. E. Cribbs, of this city, and for many years a rancher in the Smith Flat district, passed away early this week at Pomona.

Plans are being made to hold funeral services in Placerville from the Dillinger mortuary chapel on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be at Camino.

Mr. Perry was a native of Iowa, who settled in Wyoming as a young man and came to California twenty-four years ago, locating at Penryn and later at Sacramento, engaging in ranching.

He settled in this county about seventeen years ago, residing first near Camino and later in the Smith Flat district and for several years had retired from active work owing to advanced age.

He had gone to Pomona last fall to spend the winter.

Mr. Perry is survived by one son, Ray Perry of Sacramento, and one daughter, Mrs. C. E. Cribbs of this city, and by several grand children and other more distant relatives.

Bids Opened On Highway Improvement

SACRAMENTO (AP)—When bids were opened on the contract to realign U. S. Route 50 between Clark's Corners and a point one and one-half miles west of El Dorado today, it was found the low bid had been submitted by the Marysville firm of Hemstreet & Bell. Their bid was $163,731.25. Amount appropriated for the project was $250,000. The improvement will be 4.3 miles long.

Club Choral To Open Year With Potluck Luncheon

The Shakespeare Choral will give a potluck luncheon at the clubhouse on Tuesday afternoon, September 14.

All members of the choral are urged to be present to start the year's work under the direction of Mrs. M. E. Raber, who will be assisted by Mrs. Geraldine Healey.

Although this first meeting will convene for luncheon, the regular meetings of the choral through the year will be at the usual hour, 1 o'clock.

Albert Simon drove to Sacramento Tuesday evening to meet his mother, Mrs. Sarah Simon, who is here from her home at San Francisco for a visit with her sons, Frank and Albert, and their families.

FOR FIRMER NEUTRALITY—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan as he addressed the Veterans of Foreign Wars encampment at Buffalo. Thunderous applause greeted his assertion that absolute neutrality would take "the dollar signs off our battle flags forever." He struck out at "internal subversive influences."

MOTHER LODE ROAD WORK URGED

Stockton Highway Committee Projects $1,000,000 Program From Mariposa To Auburn

Expenditure of $1,000,000 over a period of five years in the improvement of the Mother Lode highway (State Route 49) between Mariposa and Auburn, will be asked of the state highway commission, according to action taken at Stockton.

The project, according to word received from the San Joaquin County center, was originated in the highway committee of the Central California Advisory Council of the state chamber of commerce and has that committee's support.

Upon being advised of the action of the Stockton group, James R. Johnson, chairman of the highway committee of the El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce and a member of the highway committee of the Sacramento Region Advisory Council of the state chamber of commerce, said he will move at the next meeting of the latter organization to support the Stockton proposal.

"While it is true that we feel we are entitled to major improvement of the highway between Placerville and Sacramento, we must not overlook the increasing traffic on the Mother Lode highway," Johnson said.

"A great number of trucks are using the road now as an outlet to the San Joaquin Valley and more trucks would use the road if it were improved. Trucks using the road now are those carrying concentrates and other compact loads which offer no problem.

"However, lumber trucks and fruit trucks are unable to use the road when loaded because of either overhanging trees or because of the roadbed."

Mr. Johnson said the state has spent approximately $10,000 on improvement of the grade between the American River bridge at the northerly county line, and Cool.

This he characterized as an excellent start on the improvement of the route between Auburn and Placerville.

TOURIST BUSINESS REACHES FOUR AND ONE-HALF BILLIONS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Forty-five million Americans went touring this summer and spent $100 apiece, the American Automobile Association estimated today.

The average tourist spent $25 with the vendors of camping supplies, souvenirs and incidental articles, $21 for food, $20 to keep the car going, $20 for places to sleep and $8 for entertainment, by the association's computations.

The estimated tourist expenditure of $4,500,000,000 is a billion over the boom years of 1929, a quarter billion over last year and 2 1/2 billion over the depression year of 1932.

GRANGERS HAVE DAY AT FAIR

Re-Check Shows Attendance On Labor Day Set New Record; Townsend Speaks

By JACK WELTER

United Press Staff Correspondent
SACRAMENTO (AP)—California extended greetings to the world by radio today as scores of motion picture celebrities thronged the 83rd annual state fair to observe Motion Picture Day.

It was International Day, Grange Day and Soroptimists Day as well. Forty Australian agriculturists, touring the Pacific coast, Canada and Mexico to study farming methods and conditions, were honor guests at the International Day observance.

Highlight of yesterday's Townsend Day observance was an address by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, originator of the plan to pay the nation's aged $200 a month pensions.

Coastless because of the heat, the angular former Long Beach physician lashed the New Deal and told 2,500 listeners the Townsend Plan is "far from dead." He criticized New Deal spending and said the Roosevelt administration had failed to protect farmers from foreign competition.

Robert Muckler, fair secretary-manager, announced meantime that the exposition's Labor Day attendance had been rechecked with a new all-time record of 102,422 persons marked up. The former high was 101,082 recorded on Labor Day last year.

The regular meeting will be followed by light refreshments and a social hour.

The attention of members is being directed by officers of the unit to the meeting of the Third District of P-T-A, to be held in Placerville on Wednesday, September 22, at the Shakespeare clubhouse.

EROSION CAN BE HALTED

Second Article In Series Tells Of Practices Found To Be Advantageous

(This is the second in a series of article on "Erosion Control in El Dorado County," prepared under the direction of Glenn E. Paxton, Project Manager, Placerville Project, Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Ivan W. Lilley, El Dorado County Farm Advisor).

As has been stated in a previous article, erosion in the orchards at Placerville has been largely caused by the application of irrigation water in extremely long furrows running straight down the slope. When the orchards were first established, natural cover gave protection to the soil during the winter rainy season.

This cover was made up of annual plants and depended upon a fresh supply of ripe seed each year. Early discing in the orchards has prevented much of the seed from ripening, resulting in the gradual elimination of the natural cover. Irrigation practices, winter rains, and lack of cover in the orchards have combined to cause the loss of much top soil and water.

It is possible to stop the greater portion of the loss of both soil and water by incorporating erosion control measures in the farm plan. It is the purpose of this and the following article to discuss some of these measures.

Perhaps the most important erosion control practice is that of cover cropping. Nature controlled erosion by covering the land with natural vegetation. In various places this cover took the form of trees, brush, or grass.

Paralysis Near Peak, Believed

44 Cases Of Disease In State; Malady Sweeps Nation From Border To Border, East To West

CHICAGO (AP)—The wave of infantile paralysis, striking across the United States from California to Florida and north into Southern Canada, appeared to be approaching a peak today.

Dozens of new cases were reported hourly from districts where high temperatures last week and the week before were especially conducive to spread of the deadly germ. Physicians explained the disease has an incubation period of ten days to two weeks.

Chicago's 700,000 public school pupils remained at home under a school department order closing schools until danger of further spread of the disease is relieved. Milwaukee, Omaha, San Diego, Calif., Council Bluffs, Ia., Waukesha, Wis., Detroit, Kansas City, St. Catherine, Ont., and St. Lucie County, Florida, officials ordered similar bans.

The New Brunswick, Can., government barred children from theaters, fairs, exhibitions and schools as a precautionary measure.

Madera County, California officials postponed school opening and barred children from theaters, dances, Sunday schools, Boy Scout rallies, swimming pools and picnics to avoid an outbreak of lethargic encephalitis, a sleeping sickness which county health officials said "appears to be mixed up with infantile paralysis."

The U. S. Public Health Service reported 620 new cases in the week ended August 28, highest number this year. This included 64 in New York, 51 in Massachusetts, 50 in Ohio, 46 in Illinois, 44 in California, 34 in Texas, 31 in Michigan, 29 in Missouri, 28 in Colorado, and 25 in Oklahoma.

Edward Has Protection Of New London Club

LONDON (AP)—The News Review will say tomorrow that a society has been formed for the defense of former King Edward VIII, now in voluntary exile.

The organization, called the Society of Octavians, will not, however, seek the restoration of the Duke of Windsor to the throne of Great Britain, the News Review said. It will, instead, content itself with defending the ex-king from attacks in the press and will "uphold his honor on all occasions."

ADMISSION DAY WILL BE HOLIDAY

The Placerville Republican will observe the day and there will be no issue of this newspaper on Admission Day.

Father Of Little Girl Gives Sound Beating To Defendant In Jail Cell

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—The story of two men who met in a jail cell and what happened thereafter spread through Windsor today after the two had appeared before Police Magistrate D. M. Brodie.

An alert constable arrested Henry Thompson Monday night after Thompson had enticed a six-year-old girl into his automobile by offering a bright, new 25-cent piece. He was sentenced to a two year term in Portsmouth penitentiary for the offense.

An hour later a drunk wobbled along the streets of downtown Windsor. A friendly policeman who urged him to "go home and sleep it off" was rewarded with a punch. At the station, the drunk gave the name of "Tom Jones."

He was placed in the cell with Thompson. Through the heavy door was heard the thud of heavy blows and then screams. Police, rushing to the cell, found Jones pummeling his half conscious cell mate.

Jones walked to the cell door. "It's all right," he said. "I'm not drunk. I'm the little girl's father."

CALIFORNIA PIONEER IS STRICKEN ON VISIT TO NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Frances Hatman Ryan, 86, one of a group of San Francisco "pioneers" who flew to New York from California as guests of an airline, died early today of heart disease.

Mrs. Ryan and the three other members of the party arranged to go to a night club to celebrate the 97th birthday of George Cameron, another member of the group. As they were leaving the Waldorf-Astoria for the night club, Mrs. Ryan decided she was too weary for such galavanting and returned to her room.

Attaches of Transcontinental and Western Airlines, who had been guiding the party since it left San Francisco, called a doctor and nurse. Several hours later, Mrs. Ryan died.

She was born aboard ship off the coast of Chile while her parents were journeying from New York to California by the then hazardous route around Cape Horn.

SHANGHAI. (Copyright, 1937, By United Press)—Japan defied Britain, France and the United States today to enforce their demand that she remove her warships and troops from the immediate vicinity of the Shanghai international settlement.

Instead of withdrawing she continued the ferocious attack which is spreading death and ruin throughout the Shanghai area and most of North China.

At Sunkiang, near Shanghai, a Japanese airplane bombed the Hangchow-Shanghai passenger train, packed with Chinese refugees from Nanking. A Chinese spokesman estimated that 300 refugees were killed and 400 injured in the wreckage of five coaches.

The Chinese said there were no Chinese troops on the train or in the vicinity.

Bombardment of ships, airplanes and artillery continued all day and into the night close to the international settlement in Shanghai and in the area to the north along the Whangpoo River and eastward and westward on the Yangtze.

Bay Strike Hits Valley Region

ments from the Sacramento, San Joaquin and Santa Clara Valleys, center of California's wealthy produce area, were blocked from San Francisco's waterfront today by the inland spread of the teamsters' union embargo.

The blockade of valley shipments came with the closing of the ports of Oakland and Richmond, which virtually bars waterborne commerce to the entire San Francisco Bay district.

The teamsters threw a tight battle line about East Bay docks in their fight for jurisdiction with the longshoremen's and warehousemen's union. Five hundred Oakland teamsters stopped hauling cargo to the docks. The valley tieup made 600 more teamsters idle, bringing the total out because of the embargo to more than 5000.

CONTRACT ON PRELIMINARY WORK AT SCHOOL TO BE LET SEPT. 24

The next regular meeting of the Placerville grammar school board will be on Friday, September 24, at which time bids will be opened on the first phase of the grammar school's improvement project.

Nevada Lady Succumbs Crossing Summit

Mrs. Lola Streeper Hoover, 59, of Fallon, Nevada, died suddenly Tuesday afternoon while enroute to Placerville from her Nevada home.

Mrs. Hoover was in a machine with her daughter, Miss Josephine Hoover of Fallon, and her husband and a nurse. They were enroute to St. Helena to a hospital there when, while crossing the summit, Mrs. Hoover suddenly passed away.

Coroner A. J. Orelli said no formal inquest would be called but that an investigation would be made. The body was returned on Tuesday evening, in the care of Memory Chapel, to Fallon for funeral services and interment.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Harris of Tucson, Arizona, were week-end visitors at the James A. Irving home on Fruit Ridge. Mr. Harris is a Southern Pacific engineer and an old friend of Mr. Irving's railroad days. The Harris were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Wright of Sacramento.

THE SPANISH ERA

Under Spanish control, colonization work was carried on in California by the pioneer padres as Mission founders.

The greatest of this line was the Franciscan, Junipero Serra, who came to California in 1769, landing at San Diego. He labored here for sixteen years in his epochal work of Mission building and died at Mission Carmel, August 28, 1784, at the age of 70.

Prior to the Franciscans, the Jesuit order had begun Mission founding in lower California. There, in 1697, the Jesuit Father, Juan Maria Salvatierra, founded the Mission at Laredo.

It was Father Francisco Eusebio Kino, one of Salvatierra's associates, who, in 1700, on a journey of exploration at the head of the Gulf of California, traced with his telescope, the mountain ranges far to the northward, and discovered that California was not an island, but a part of the mainland.

The Franciscan order, under Serra, at once took up and carried forward, missionary and colonization labors in the new province.

Spain took formal possession of upper California at Monterey June 3, 1770, one hundred and sixty-eight years after the landing at the harbor by Sebastian Vizcaino in 1602.

These ceremonies were conducted by Don Gaspar de Portola, as California's first governor, mass being celebrated by Father Serra, and took place under the same oak tree where Vizcaino had camped and erected a cross in 1602.

The trunk of this famous live oak tree, preserved by a chemical process, is now in the chapel of San Carlos at Monterey. This chapel, built in 1794, is still in an excellent state of preservation.

A granite cross marks the spot where the live oak stood, the tree having been felled when it began to wither and decay.

Portola's historic discovery of San Francisco Bay, November 2, 1769, resulted when Portola's overland expedition from San Diego, searching for Monterey Bay, missed Monterey entirely, Portola finally sighting the harbor now called San Francisco Bay, and so named later by Father Serra in honor of his patron saint, St. Francis.

The first ship ever to sail through the Golden Gate into San Francisco Bay was the San Carlos, commanded by the Spanish Captain, Juan de Ayala, August 5, 1775.

With Portola as the first governor of California, at Monterey, and with the establishment there of Junipero Serra as Father President of the Missions, Monterey became the seat of both the civil and ecclesiastical authority of the new Spanish province of California.

It was likewise the military capital of the province, the main seaport and the center of social life.

Monterey, in the days "before the Gringo came," was the scintillant center of all the colorful and picturesque life of the "Days of the Dons." Here was the wealth, the beauty, the gaiety, the enterprise of the entire country lying between San Francisco and San Diego.

"There will never again be seen upon this earth, perhaps," says John S. McGroarty, in his book, "California," "a life so ideal as that which was in Monterey and throughout all California in its halcyon days before the 'Gringo' came . . . the land was fat with plenty and every door was flung wide with welcome to whomsoever might come."

It was here, in California's first capital, that California's first newspaper, "The Californian," was published by Dr. Robert Semple, with type borrowed from the missions. Semple, a dentist, was a Kentuckian, standing 6 feet 8 inches, and usually dressed in buckskin, wearing a coonskin cap.

Dr. Semple transferred his activities and his vigorous personality about this time to Sonoma and with General Mariano G. Vallejo planned the city of

By FRED BAILEY

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Butchers' prices on pork, beef and lamb will continue at the "present relatively high levels" at least during the remainder of this year, Department of Agriculture economists predict.

Feeder stocks of the three principal meat animals are far below normal and marketings this fall will be light and present prices probably will be maintained, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics said.

The light supply is a result of the 1934 and 1936 droughts. Many farmers were forced to sell their stock. High prices of feed increased the cost of finished animals and caused farmers to keep little breeding stock.

With bumper feed crops in prospect this fall and prices of feed considerably lower, the number of hogs, cattle and sheep on farms may be expected to increase considerably, the economists said. Increased marketings, however, may not begin before next spring.

Grandmother At Thirty Claims World Record

BUDAPEST (U.P.)—Bajesa is a little known place in Hungary, but it claims to have established a world record in having the youngest grandmother in the world.

She is Frau Minario, 30. She married when she was 14, and a year later a child was born. When the child was 14, she married, and a year later she had a child, too.

Napa county's prune harvest will soon be in full swing; no labor shortage is anticipated this season; there may be a slight increase in price paid labor this summer.

California's grape crop as of August 1st was estimated by the State Crop Reporters at 2,207,000 tons, a drop of 12,000 tons from the July 1st forecast.

Benicia, named for Vallejo's wife, Semple operated the first ferry on San Francisco Bay; participated in the Bear Flag revolt later and was chairman of the province, the main seaport and at Monterey.

MAGICIAN FAILS AND IS BURIED ALIVE WITH PATIENT

HYDERABAD, India (UP)—A magician named Butchia was buried alive with the corpse of a man he had failed to cure near Warrangel, central India. This was revealed when five other men were sentenced to transportation for life for the murder of the magician. The prosecution stated that Butchia was called in to cure a sick man, and as the man's condition became worse instead of better, the accused tied the magician to a stake and beat him, threatening him with death if he failed to cure their friend. The sick man died, and Butchia was tied behind the bier, dragged to the burial ground and buried alive with the corpse.

COLLEGE FOR GROWN-UPS TEACHES 2,000; FIFTH TERM NOW OPENING

By ROBERT JOHNSON

United Press Staff Correspondent
LANSING, Mich. (UP)—The people's university, a co-operative, non-sectarian adult-education movement, will begin its fifth term this fall.

Some 2,000 students from all walks of life are expected to study in Lansing's unusual institution, which charges no tuition and awards no diplomas.

They will meet in Lansing's city hall, in club rooms, in business houses and state buildings, in bank directors' rooms, churches and residents to learn, among other things:

Astronomy from a factory foreman and sculpturing from his son, a former University of Chicago student, and a score of other subjects ranging from safety programs to religion.

Founder and guide of the unusual school which has attracted attention of the nation's educators is tall, dynamic Trygve Narvesen, a former Y. M. C. A. secretary, whose aim is "to bring out and use local talent."

Instructors at the people's university work without pay, and students give either nothing or whatever they can. Administrative costs are paid from public contributions.

The new sugar beet harvester, tried successfully in California and Colorado last year by the agricultural engineers of the University of California and the U. S. Department of Agriculture will be given further tests this fall in Yolo county and the Delta district beet fields.

RUSSIANS HAVE 8,000 MILES OF REGULAR AIR LANES IN ARCTIC AREA

MOSCOW (UP)—Figures showing for the first time the amazing extent of Soviet Russia's conquest of the Arctic by air have just been released by the official news agency, Tass.

They show, irrespective of the spectacular North Pole flights, highly publicized of late, that length of regular airlines in the extreme north now reaches 8,694 miles.

During the year ended in August, Soviet airplanes, it was stated, have traveled more than 1,676,000 miles in the Arctic; transported 8,069 passengers, carried 111 tons of mail and 730 tons of cargo.

RAINBOW TROUT KILLED BY THUNDERSTORM IN MICHIGAN

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (UP)—"Mother Nature" has been added to a list of fishermen.

At the Wolf Lake hatchery, 20 large rainbows and six brook trout died within an hour after a severe thunderstorm. Dr. A. S. Hazzard, head of the conservation department's institute for fisheries research, said the fish probably had been suffocated when rapid changes in atmospheric pressure and the introduction of surface water to the pond caused a sudden increase in carbon dioxide tension.

We have seen how the natural cover has been practically eliminated in the orchards because the seed was not allowed to ripen.

Man can approximate nature by planting either an annual or a permanent cover crop. Where the supply of water is believed too small to allow a permanent cover to be established and maintained, an annual cover crop is used. Because the annual cover makes comparatively little growth in the fall, it is necessary, in order to control erosion, to use an annual ditch system along with the cover, to carry off surplus water. The construction of annual ditches will be discussed later.

Satisfactory results were obtained during the past season by drilling the seed, with fertilizer, in seedbeds prepared as soon as possible after the last irrigation in September. The irrigation water stored in the soil was sufficient to germinate the seed and maintain growth until additional moisture was supplied by rainfall. Rosen Rye and Vetch or California Red Oats and Vetch were found to be satisfactory.

Permanent cover crops on orchard land provided a protective sod which gives complete control of irrigation and rainfall erosion. Mixtures of Italian Rye Grass, Common Alfalfa, and Red Top have been successfully used.

The permanent cover crop is irrigated by flooding, using a rearranged irrigation system that has been laid out with very short runs straight down the hill. The orchards having annual cover crops, which are disced into the top soil in the spring, are irrigated by rearranging the irrigation systems, using the least steep grade allowable by the tree plantings. Rearranging the irrigation systems has been one of the more important field activities of the Soil Conservation Service. The farmer furnishes all the material and a portion of the labor, while the government furnishes a technical supervision and the rest of the labor for making and installing the pipe lines.

In many orchards, it is practically impossible to get a good heavy cover crop established without fertilizer. Using a grain drill with a fertilizer attachment is a successful and economical way of planting and fertilizing the cover crop. As phosphates and nitrates are the limiting plant nutrients, 200 pounds of ammonium phosphate per acre often is applied when the cover crop is planted. On extremely poor soils it may be necessary to add another hundred pounds in the spring on permanent cover crops.

The addition of manure on poor soils has been highly recommended.

The next article of this series will discuss annual ditch systems and other practices connected with erosion control.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y. (UP)—This little essay is on charm, a subject I am well qualified to discuss.

Now, it's no trick to say what it is that gives charm to a million bucks or a blonde cutie out of the chorus. But what is it, I ask you, that gives charm to a short, chunky guy with heavy jowls who often gives the impression of surliness, whose personality is as vibrant as a broken ukelele string, whose conversational assets consist of a few, assorted gestures and monosyllabic responses?

I've been up here in the Adirondacks watching them arraign a country boy named Laverne Moore on a charge of first degree robbery. I watched him there in the court room with the city folks from the local summer colony gaping at him, standing ill at ease with his hat in his hand like an ice man, and I thought that he really was a country boy—that he couldn't possibly be the John Montague who is a famous for his charm as for his golf game.

But that was John Montague—the man who charmed them for years in the capital of charm, where they manufacture charm in reels of celluloid, yard after yard after yard. He had so charmed the foremost experts of charm—Bing Crosby, and millionaires of the movies—that he had lived in luxury with automobiles and servants and beautiful dolls at his beck and call, with no other asset than his superabundant charm.

He had consented earlier to receive us reporters. He sat heavily, staring fixedly out the window, looking something like Buddha with his heavy-lidded eyes, and each time one of us asked a question, he'd jerk his thumb toward his lawyer without uttering a word. Finally, he jumped up and without so much as a bow to us, said to his lawyer:—"You've said enough. Hell let's get going, Jim." Definitely, we weren't charmed.

But later I was charmed. He showed me a golf game that, even in my wildest dream, I could never equal. He made me feel like a fool, a low, crawling fool, swatting futilely away at a little white ball that hooked this way and sliced that, while, without effort, he sent his screaming straight down the fairway for 300 yards or more. He let me sock him in the belly. I hurt my knuckles, but not his belly. Then he picked me up with one hand and held me dangling.

Now I reach my point, friends. A guy has charm who can meet you at something at which you think you're pretty good, and show you up as a miserable ass and make you raving mad, but is so damn strong that he can tear you into little squares like a kid fixing the paper for hare and hounds.

You can't lick him at the game and you and a dozen like you couldn't lick him with your fists. You resent it, you resent it plenty, but you can't do anything about it.

So you're charmed no end.

City Will Set Levy Monday

Routine Matters Characterize Council Meeting Held On Tuesday Night

The City Council will set the tax rate for the current year at an adjourned meeting to be held on Monday night, next.

At the regular meeting of the council, held on Tuesday evening at the city hall, principal matters of business were of a strictly routine nature. Of special interest to oil companies was a discussion of the city ordinance limiting the amount of gasoline which may be stored in drums above the ground.

Representatives of various major oil concerns were present and following a discussion of the matter the council instructed city officers that until some change is made in the ordinance, the city will limit the storage of gasoline in barrels above ground to not more than 20 barrels in any one distributing plant.

City Attorney Thomas Maul advised the Council that he has word officially from Engineer Harry Jenks that the PWA grant together with the city bond issue voted for the purpose will provide a sufficient amount of money to complete the city's projected sewerage installation.

The report, previously published, was a formality to get the matter into the record. There was no additional information on the sewer project.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ward left on Wednesday morning on a vacation visit to Mill Valley, calling on Mr. and Mrs. Don Thomsen, and to Santa Cruz, where they will visit for a time before returning to Placerville about October 1.

Lewis Will Enter Tourney For Heavyweights

PITTSBURGH (UP)—John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight champion, will vacate the title he has held since 1935 to enter the proposed heavyweight tournament to be sponsored by Promoter Mike Jacobs in New York this winter, it was announced today.

In a telegram to Chairman John Phelan of the New York Boxing Commission, Gus Greenlee, Lewis' manager, said the champion is willing to forfeit the title "if he is assured that he will be guaranteed a title match by your commission should he win the tournament."

Vallejo Ferry Service Authorized To Quit

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The State Railroad Commission today authorized Southern Pacific-Golden Gate Ferries, Ltd., to abandon its ferry service between San Francisco and Vallejo.

In the same order the commission provided for faster freight transportation from Vallejo and the Napa valley into Oakland and San Francisco.

Jail Cell Without Bath Displeases Motorist

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. (UP)—Joseph Gorman of Brooklyn, boasted he would "spend a month in jail" rather than post $5 bail pending trial in City Court for speeding. After one look at the cell he would occupy, however, Gorman posted bail. Next day he paid a $5 fine.

According to the report filed by the arresting officer, Gorman "changed his mind on looking over accommodations because no bath was attached."

Mr. and Mrs. William Voiles were in town Wednesday from their Camino residence.

Japan Renews Shanghai War

Americans in Shanghai, defending their interests, again refused to leave and renewed their demand that the United States rescind its refusal to protect them.

Nevertheless, consular authorities warned 2100 Americans in North China to get out because the government cannot guarantee their safety. The American consul at Tsingtao informed Americans there that the government wants them to withdraw at once.

Announcement of Japan's refusal to bow to the demands of Britain, France and the United States came shortly after the momentous news that China's communist army of 100,000 or more veteran troops had thrown away its red banners and come to the government's aid in its extremity.

Paraguay Revolt Quashed By Government

ASUNCION, Paraguay (UP)—After a night of fighting, government naval and cavalry forces ousted rebellious military detachments today and established the provisional government of President Felix Paiva in power.

Government headquarters announced that order had been established and that its troops would enforce full terms of the constitution.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE TO CLEAR MEDITERRANEAN OF "PIRATES"

By WEBB MILLER

United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON. (Copyright, 1937, By United Press)—"Pirate" submarines, renewing their bold attacks on merchant ships, added fresh danger today to a Mediterranean crisis that now involved every great power in Europe.

The cabinet, its members more anxious than they had been since the Ethiopian crisis of 1935, met to give Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden his final instructions for the anti-submarine conference to be held at Nyon, Switzerland, Friday.

These instructions, worked out in agreement with France, were that whether Italy and Germany attend the conference or not, whether other nations co-operate or not, Great Britain and France propose to inaugurate a formal plan of naval operations to clear the Mediterranean sea lanes of the "pirate" submarines.

Northrop Plane Factory Abandoned In Strike

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Donald W. Douglas said today he was dissolving the Northrop Aircraft Company, where some of the army's fastest fighting planes have been built, because of a strike of 1400 employees.

He said the Northrop plant will be abandoned.

Northrop is a subsidiary of Douglas Aircraft, of which Douglas is president. The company has been working on new military contracts.
